

1 PRIVACY POLICY

---

Kindly read the Privacy Policy cautiously. This record is a fundamental piece of the arrangement between you (likewise named "Client") and Saxo Capital (additionally named after "Organization").

Protection Policy portrays the standards for the Company's work regarding your own information. Individual information incorporates any User information that distinguishes him as a person. This Policy additionally clarifies the utilization of individual information that we gather when you utilize our administrations by speaking with us by telephone, email or different methods. This Policy illuminates you what type regarding data we gather, with whom we share it and for what purposes, how we ensure it and what rights you need to protect the classification of your data.

Saxo Capital is not kidding about ensuring the individual information of its clients and safeguarding private data. To keep away from the loss of data, its abuse, change and unapproved admittance to it by outsiders, we agree to all necessities, both authoritative and specialized.

By tolerating the Privacy Policy, the User consents to the assortment, stockpiling, use and revelation of individual information as per this Privacy Policy and relevant law. You can pull out your assent and solicitation that you eliminate your own information by reaching us.

2 WHAT INDIVIDUAL INFORMATION DOES THE COMPANY GATHER?

---

You can furnish us with distinguishing proof, contact, budgetary and other data when you roundout online structures or send us application structures via mail, just as by telephone, email, during approval in the Personal Account or in another way. Likewise, all the individual information that you give in situations where:

- use our items or administrations;
- register your own record on our site;
- subscribe to our distributions or outsider distributions identified with us;
- agree to get our special materials and bulletins;
- participate in a challenge, faithfulness program, unique advancements or studies;
- leave surveys.

On singular pages of the site, individual information might be mentioned, which you can give on the off chance that you wish (for instance, we can demand contact data to enlist a Personal Account, pursue promoting pamphlets and warnings from us and/or so you can submit applications to us).

At the point when you visit our site, certain data is naturally shipped off us from your gadgets. In certain locales, including the European Union, such data might be viewed as customized as per certain information security laws. A portion of this data is gathered utilizing cookies. More data about the cookies we use and the reasons for which they are utilized is revealed in the Cookies Policy.

By what method can the Company utilize your own information?

- ❖ Sending you pamphlets;
- ❖ Proper arrangement of our administrations;
- ❖ Analysis and comprehension of our crowd to improve the Service;
- ❖ Investigate infringement of this Privacy Policy to guarantee consistence, just as secure our inclinations and rights.

We may send you promoting letters with data about our Services that we find fascinating for you.

3 THE REASONS FOR WHICH WE WILL UTILIZE YOUR OWN INFORMATION:

---

1. To give you client support. Sort of information: distinguishing proof data (name, last name, nation of habitation, address and other comparative data), contact subtleties (email address, telephone number, site page, courier number and so forth), public ID archives (identification, id record, living arrangement license and others), budgetary data (ledger number bank card number and name of its proprietor, reports demonstrating the starting point of cash and others), political noteworthiness (reports and waivers), narrative data (duplicates of records affirming data gave).
2. Risk administration, tax evasion avoidance, reaction to administrative and lawful prerequisites. Sort of information: value-based, monetary, personality.
3. Marketing. Kind of information: contact, assent and correspondence. Reason: advertising exercises and the introduction of data and news about items and administrations. Lawful grounds: the execution of the agreement with you.

4 WHAT DATA CAN THE ORGANIZATION UNVEIL TO CERTAIN OUTSIDERS?

---

We don't give data to organizations, associations and people outside the Company except if one of the accompanying conditions applies: We will impart your own information to organizations, associations or people outside of the Company in the event that we have an upright conviction that getting to, utilizing, putting away or uncovering individual information is sensibly fundamental for:

- Compliance with any material laws, guidelines, claims, or coercive government demands;
- the use of current enactment, including the examination of potential infringement;
- identifying, forestalling misrepresentation, supporting security or taking care of specialized issues;
- protect the rights, property or security of the Company, our clients or people in general as vital or inside lawful cutoff points.

We can share recognizable data openly and with our accomplices. For instance, we may distribute data in broad daylight to show patterns in the general utilization of our site.

In the event that the Company partakes in the consolidation, securing or offer of resources, we will keep on guaranteeing the secrecy of any close to home information and advise Users before the individual information are moved or get subject to another protection strategy.

We won't share your name, email address or other data with different clients.

Under specific conditions, we may move your own information to an outsider in another nation for additional handling as per the goals set out in this Policy. Sometimes, this may incorporate the exchange of information to nations that don't give similar degree of insurance as the laws of your nation of habitation. In such cases, we will, as per legitimate prerequisites, guarantee that your security rights will be sufficiently ensured by suitable specialized, coordinated, authoritative or other lawful measures.

5 WHAT RIGHTS DOES THE CLIENT HAVE?

---

- You reserve the privilege to get a duplicate of the individual information that we have about you.

- You reserve the privilege to demand that we right any incorrect data and/or supplement any inadequate individual information. We will address our records and advise outsiders to whom such close to home data could be moved, as depicted previously.
- You reserve the option to move to someone else or demand a duplicate of all close to home information that you gave to us, after which we will move this information to another information regulator of your decision.
- You can practice this privilege by tapping on the "withdraw" or "withdraw" interface in the advertising letters that we send you.
- You reserve the option to demand that we quit handling your own information. If it's not too much trouble note that this may keep you from utilizing certain administrations for which the preparing of your own information is vital.
- You can pull out you agree to the preparing of your own information whenever. This won't influence the lawfulness of information handling to which you recently concurred. If it's not too much trouble note that on the off chance that you pull out your assent, this may keep you from utilizing a portion of the highlights of our administration that require the handling of your own information.
- You reserve the option to demand that we erase the entirety of your own information, and we will do it if there is no genuine motivation not to do as such.
- You reserve the privilege to document an objection with the chief.

6 PROGRAMMED DYNAMIC

---

Now and again, our utilization of your own information may bring about creation programmed choices (counting profiling) that influence you lawfully or have a significant impact on you of an alternate sort. A programmed choice is a choice about you, made naturally based on a PC count (utilizing programming calculations), without human control. At the point when we apply a programmed choice that worries you, you reserve the privilege to challenge the choice, to communicate your perspective and request that the individual reevaluate the choice.